SCHWERIN
WIRELESS

PACIFIC MAIL MANAGER WANTS
SYSTEM WHEN IT REACHES
2,000 MILES.

The Pacific Mail S. S. Company will not use wireless at present, according to a statement made this morning by General Manager Schwerin, but when the system has been perfected so that it will be of use to the company com-mercially in a degree corresponding to its cost, it will at once go ahead with the work. In speaking of the matter he said:

"Certainly, just as soon as we can get a wireless system which will send signals for 2,000 miles, we will install it on our boats at once. Till then we will leave it alone. The matter is being worked on in New York at present. If we put in wireless we want a system which will be of some benefit and which will enable us to work with relays continuously. In other words we want a system which will allow us to dispense with the cable altogether. Then it will pay us to go ahead. It would cost us $20,000 to install a system and $22,000 more for the expense of operators, so you can see that it would amount to a good deal for a plaything."

time to see a man, hatless, wearing dark clothes and with his trousers caught about the ankles as if by bicycle clips, running from the room.
Entrance to the house had been gained by removal of the small wood fastenings over the screen door. The intruder was frightened away without stealing anything.

OCEAN BREEZES

Lying in the Mid Pacific, swept by the trade winds which blow across leagues of ocean and are absolutely pure, with the mountains from whose higher altitudes cool breezes descend upon by the city, with its delightful climate all the year around, is one of the many reasons why Honolulu is being recognized as one of the world's most healthful places in which to live.
There are no biting, cold winds, but, instead, refreshing, health giving trade breezes that make every person want to return—especially if he has been at that elevation where he can get a glimpse of Diamond Head in its majesty on the left, the panoramic view of the city on the right, the beautiful ocean view and its exhilarating breezes on the south and the mountains with their picturesque scenery on the north; all of which can be obtained from any point on Kaimuki where choice, residential property is being sold by the Real Estate Exchange.

ST. LOUIS
TO HILO

The St. Louis will make the Hilo trip, after all. This statement was given out officially last night by Captain Gieves of the cruiser who has received a cablegram from Washington giving permission to make the trip.
He stated that the St. Louis would leave for Hilo early next Sunday morning and that she would remain there till Wednesday, when she would start for San Francisco.

The St. Louis, if speeded up, can make the trip from this city to Hilo in eleven hours or better, so if she leaves here early on Sunday she will probably reach the Hawaii port during the evening. The officers nearly all are anxious to see the volcano, but say that they are enjoying themselves so much in this city that they would like to spend the extra days here.

SAYS HER HUSBAND
IS BEING ABUSED

"The Advertiser says," said Mrs.
Mary Atcherley this morning, "that if the Atcherleys would change places for a while the doctor might come to. I suppose they mean that I am more crazy than the doctor is supposed to be.
But I wish it could be arranged that we might change places, so the doctor could be free to support the family.
Then I would gladly take his place in the insane asylum where Peterson is trying some experiment, without any right or reason, an experiment with medicine that is likely to poison my husband.

"They call it axalgine. I don't know what it is, but it produces blotches on the face of the doctor and by what right Peterson uses it I don't know, unless it is purely for experiment. Why doesn't he experiment on a dog?"

BITTING RAISES
A FINE POINT

Another strenuous combat over a technical point occurred in the United States court today in the trial of Morimoto for assaulting a witness before the grand jury.

It was on the admission of a subpoena in evidence presented by Assistant District Attorney Rawlins to prove that Chise, the victim of the assault charged, was a witness at the time defendant attacked her.

Judge Woodruff, after overruling the motion of Attorney Bittling for the defense to reject the evidence, heard the movant further on authorities. In commenting on these as interpreted by Mr. Bittling, the court drew a distinction between an attack on a witness and an endeavor by force to obstruct and impede the course of justice. If Moriimoto believed that Chise was a witness who was going to testify in a case in which he had an interest, that was a matter of proof which would go to the jury.

Mr. Bittling said proof
